ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an apparatus for recording and regenerating data, a pass metric is calculated based on a likelihood converted from a previous calculation result iteratively until all pass metrics of the same data recorded many times on a recording medium are calculated, and then data recorded on the recording medium is decoded.